Image Request Fees*

Each ASCSA department is responsible for collecting fees for the reproduction requests that it fulfills. Your ASCSA contact will work with you to arrange for payment if payment is required. NB: Requesting an image for your use does not guarantee permission to publish it. If you wish to request an image for publication, you will also need to request permissions to publish it. Pre-payment of fees (cash, check, or money order) is required prior to delivery of images or service. Fees may be waived at the discretion of an ASCSA department.

Basic Fee

For fulfillment of any image reproduction requests made either online or in person, a basic service fee of €15/$20 per digital image will be charged. This fee may be waived at the discretion of an ASCSA department.

Image Discovery and Delivery

There may be times when you need help finding one or more images to use in your publication. Permissions-seekers who ask for assistance from an ASCSA department for either commercial or non-commercial publications will be charged a standard image discovery fee of €25/$35 for 1-20 images and an additional €1/$1.50 for each image over 20. This fee may be waived at the discretion of an ASCSA department.

Permissions-seekers who are able to help themselves in finding images (via the ASCSA's online collections or elsewhere) to use for their research and/or publication will not be charged an image discovery fee.

All images provided by the ASCSA will be digital (TIFF format unless otherwise requested) at a minimum resolution of 300 ppi (1200 ppi for line art) and will be delivered by either email, download link, or in the case of in-person requests, CD/DVD/USB.
