ANDREW W. MELLON MEDITERRANEAN REGIONAL RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

PROGRAM OF THE COUNCIL OF AMERICAN OVERSEAS RESEARCH CENTERS

The CAORC regional fellowship program for pre- and early post-doctoral scholars supports research in the humanities and related social sciences in countries bordering the Mediterranean and served by American overseas research centers. Funding for this program is generously provided by The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

Eligibility: US citizen and permanent resident doctoral candidates and post-doctoral scholars who have received their Ph.Ds. within the last ten years (September 2005). While applicants residing outside of the US are eligible, CAORC’s outreach efforts will primarily focus in the US.

Duration: Applicants may propose three to nine month travel to one or multiple countries, as long as at least one of the countries hosts a participating American overseas research center. Please visit www.caorc.org for a list of participating overseas research centers.

Terms: Fellowship stipend awarded by CAORC. School fees, travel costs, housing, board, and other living expenses are to be paid out of the fellowship stipend by the recipient. A final report is due at the end of the award period, and the ASCSA expects that copies of all publications that result from research conducted as a Fellow of the ASCSA be contributed to the relevant library of the ASCSA.

Application: Please check the CAORC website for application and deadline details at http://www.caorc.org.

Upon notice from CAORC, successful applicants intending to use the School must immediately submit the ASCSA Visiting Associate Member application with a copy of their CAORC application online at the ASCSA web site at: http://www.ascsa.edu.gr/index.php/admission-membership.

E-mail: application@ascsa.org