

ΚΑΘΑΡΑ ΔΕΥΤΕΡΑ
CLEAN MONDAY

The Board of Overseers and Friends of the Gennadius Library will celebrate the 13th annual benefit at Kellari Taverna in New York City. Executive Chef Gregory Zapantis will provide celebrants an exquisite feast marking the end of carnival and beginning of Lent. Specialty dishes such as dolmades, grilled octopus, gigantes plaki, wild mushroom stew, Greek-style shrimp, and various salads along with a spectacular raw bar with oysters and shrimp will be offered. Greek wines and beer will accompany the dinner.

ABOUT THE LIBRARY:

The Gennadius Library is a world-renowned center for the study of Hellenism from antiquity to the present containing over 120,000 rare books, archives, manuscripts, and research volumes illuminating all periods of Greek history and civilization. The Library plays a leading role in disseminating knowledge of Greek culture through public lectures, seminars, symposia, exhibitions, and publication in print and on the internet. The Gennadius Library collaborates with local and international research libraries and academic institutions as well as the broader public in Athens and beyond to enrich our understanding of a culture fundamental to the formation of western society.

All proceeds from the celebration will support the general operation of the Gennadius Library.
