

APPENDIX VI

Timeline (1881–2022)

1881	American School of Classical Studies at Athens founded	1962	Purchase of Heinrich Schliemann papers establishes ASCSA as archival repository
1882	First academic year with all male students at the School	1966	Charles K. Williams II named Director of the Corinth Excavations
1885	Annie Smith Peck becomes first female student at the School	1975	Mabel Lang voted first female Chair of the Managing Committee
1888	First School building opened to Director and male students	1976	Colin Edmonson appointed first Mellon Professor of Classical Studies
1890	John Wesley Gilbert becomes first African-American student at the School	1992	New Extension of the Blegen Library opened
1896	Excavation of ancient Corinth begins	1992	Wiener Laboratory established in the School's main building
1925	First Summer Session held	1994	ASCSA Archives formally established
1926	Gennadius Library opened to the public	2005	Cotsen Hall auditorium inaugurated
1930	William Caleb Loring Hall dedicated as coed residence	2008	Margaret M. Miles becomes first female Mellon Professor
1931	Excavation of the Athenian Agora begins	2016	Malcolm H. Wiener Laboratory for Archaeological Science dedicated
1932	Quarterly journal Hesperia begins publication	2017	Jenifer Neils becomes first female Director of the School
1940	ASCSA Alumni/ae Association founded	2018	Makriyannis Wing exhibition hall opened
1947	Triumph over Time film produced for US distribution	2019	All library holdings reclassified into Library of Congress system
1956	Reconstructed Stoa of Attalos in the Agora dedicated as museum and workspace	2022	Major renovations of Loring Hall residence completed
1959	Arthur Vining Davis Wing added to the Blegen Library		